QUARRELS BETWEEN NATIONS CERTAIN TO COME, ROOT ARGUES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Solomon warning by Elihu Root that "quarrels between nations are certain to come" and that "agreements not to have these things happen are futile" was sounded today in his paper on codification of international law, presented by Representative Burton to the Inter-Parliamentary Union conference here.

The paper's author, recognized by the conference as an outstanding authority on international affairs, held that its codification had a special importance at the time because of the necessity of enlarging the services rendered by the permanent court of international justice.

The court was one of a group of related institutions, with the League of Nations and The Hague court of arbitration, which, the writer asserted, promised to "facilitate the preservation of peace to a degree never before attained."

"These three institutions for conference, for judicial decision and for arbitration are still in their infancy," Mr. Root said. "But they have made extraordinary development in the last thirty years and the simple fact of their existence is already changing the way in which mankind thinks and feels about the disposition of international controversy without war."

In a preceding passage Mr. Root had stated his conviction that wars resulted from a state of mind and "in these modern times that has to be a state of mind of a people." He amplified that statement with the assertion that "we have reached a point where war cannot be successfully carried on unless it gratifies the feelings of the great body of the people of the country."

"In conclusion," the paper continued, "it means that the most effective method of dealing with the state of mind which leads to war is not by any mere negative but by a counter-affirmative, consisting of a substitute for decision by war in the form of a decision by proof and reason."

If only a week of dicting would make you as lean as you feel inside.

RALLY DAY ATTRACTS INTEREST AT MACLEOD

Sunday, October 4, was Rally Day in the United Church of Canada. In the Macleod Sunday school it proved the greatest day the children in this church ever had. Rev. W. H. Irwin had charge of the boys and girls and each one did his or her part well. At the morning service these girls and boys crowded the large platform and led the singing for the congregation and several selections by themselves.

Mr. Irwin took as his subject, "Going Some," from Paul's life, when he said, "I press toward the mark," and asked the girls and boys to have something definite in view as they went to school, and when school was over to be ready to take up their life work.

In the afternoon Sunday school service the girls and boys again excelled themselves by their singing several special selections. Rev. W. H. Irwin took as his subject, "A Sunbeam," and took as his text, "Ye are the light of the world," as he explained what light was, and even a sunbeam has something to do in this world. The children rose and sang, "I want to be a Sunbeam."

Mr. Irwin told of his work years ago in city mission work, and the good results from the Sunbeam Class. He appealed to each one to be a Sunbeam for Jesus, and invited all to sign a pledge to be workers for Jesus, who is the Light of this world.

A DECLINING INDUSTRY

The announcement that another prominent Ontario warden mill has recently closed shops conclusively the effect that present tariff policies has on Canadian industry. Since January, 1st, 1923 over twenty Canadian mills have shut down. Forty per cent of the machinery in the industry is idle, and the employees number some 10,700, as against a possible full-time employment of 23,000. The warden industry of Canada is at least capable of producing 80 to 90 per cent of the goods imported and of employing 17,000 to 20,000 more hands in the process. Under the present regime, statistics show that Canada's warden industry has been slowly declining, its business shrinking, its profits vanishing and unemployment increasing. It is estimated that 94 per cent of the capital invested in this industry is Canadian. Instead of being protected to the extent which economic conditions call for, it is a dying industry in this country.—Winnipeg Commercial.

Declare Martial Law

A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph quotes Premier Pangalos as saying that the purpose is to establish a censorship so as to prevent political leaders from using the newspapers to disturb public opinion.

Cancel Trial of Premier ATHENS, Oct. 6.—The trial of former Premier Papanastasiou, set for today, has been cancelled. No explanation is given.

RED CROSS AND IMMIGRATION

The Red Cross service for the immigrant to Canada begins at the ports of disembarkation. At St. John, Quebec and Halifax where thousands of settlers arrive in the course of the year, there has been built up a service of the utmost value to women and children. The Red Cross Nurseries of these ports are staffed with Red Cross workers, whose business it is to welcome the immigrants with something more than a verbal greeting. For the women there are many conveniences—waiting rooms and facilities for resting before the long railway journey begins. Refreshments are freely offered, fresh tea and biscuits, with milk for the little ones is distributed all round. Babies are put to bed, while the older children are seated round tiny tables enjoying the brightly colored scrap books made by the Juniors in their school branches. The Red Cross addresses of the settlers are obtained by the Red Cross nurses, in order that cards may be filled out and sent to the Divisional officers of the Red Cross advising them of the destination of the new settlers with information regarding the health of the family. Welcome cards are printed in English, Dutch, Finnish, Ruthenian, French, Norwegian, Icelandic, Swedish, Ukrainian, Yiddish and Italian. They bear the kindly greeting "Canada welcomes her new children and cares for their welfare." Then follows the advice to take the card to a health officer, who will advise the family.

When a new settler arrives in a district he is communicated with direct from Red Cross Divisional Office, a card is also sent the local Red Cross representative or voluntary worker, asking that a friendly visit be paid to the family and their condition reported to headquarters. Many letters of thanks are received from settlers who are delighted to find a friend in a new country, bearing the barge of humanity and service, the Red Cross.

Red Cross will make its usual annual appeal this year, when you are asked to support the work. Please remember what this Red Cross service means and do your best to help the Society carry on. If you want to know more of the work write the Alberta Division, Traders Building, Calgary, for the Alberta Red Cross News Pictorial which will be sent free on receipt of your name and address.

Settlement achieved mainly through the instrumentality of Mayor George Webster, aided by City Solicitor L. W. Brockington.

The chief feature of the victory is that the important principle was established that a separate gas transportation company shall not be formed to collect a special profit on gas transported from a gas field to consumers in a city.

The new gas rate, which is a cut of 5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet from the present rate, is only temporary until such time as it shall be further adjusted by the public utility board. It begins from and after the November meter readings of this year, and the settlement expressly states that it is to depend upon the availability of Turner Valley gas.

Other important features of the victory won by the city are:

The Turner Valley gas is to be scrubbed of all odor.

All agreements made among the companies involved are to be subject to the scrutiny and review of the Public Utility Board.

No gas shall be used for industrial purposes until such time as the public supply for household consumers is entirely adequate.

The government suggests that the city ought now, in the future, to come wholly under the jurisdiction of the Public Utility Board without question.

Following is the complete detailed text of the government's statement:

Settlement Acceptable To Both Parties

"The government is pleased to announce that, after lengthy negotiations between the representatives of the city of Calgary and the representatives of the Canadian Western Natural Gas, Light, Heat & Power Co. and the Gas Production and Transportation, Ltd., in which the government has acted as intermediary, a settlement has been outlined, which, subject to ratification by the council of the city of Calgary, is acceptable to both parties.

"The government wishes to state that, in its opinion, very important principles have been involved in the dispute and nothing but public good could come from the public discussion of the protest voiced by the city of Calgary.

"In the discussion leading to what it is hoped will be a settlement, the government has been impressed by the reasonableness which has distinguished the attitude of all parties, and in particular desires to compliment the representatives of the companies concerned, and the spirit of compromise which has marked their deliberations. The terms which, it is understood, have been accepted, are as follows:

Gas Transportation Company Obliterated

1. The Gas Production and Transportation, Ltd., will transfer to the Canadian Western Natural Gas, Light, Heat & Power Co. the new Turner Valley pipe line and right-of-way, and will assign all its contracts connected with the pipe line to the same company.

"The transfer and assignment will be in form satisfactory to the legal advisors of the city, and no re-transfer or further assignments will be made by the Canadian Western Natural Gas, Light, Heat & Power Co. without the approval of the city as long as the Canadian Western Natural Gas, Light, Heat & Power Co. distribute gas within the limits of the city of Calgary.

"The permit to cross road allowances, when issued, will be granted to the Canadian Western Natural Gas, Light, Heat & Power Co. and the pipe line will be owned and operated by the Canadian Western Natural Gas, Light, Heat & Power Co. and will form an integral part of its system.

"The city agrees that in any future order of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, the company shall be entitled to operate the new pipe line as part of the capital of the company on which a return is allowed, as long as it is part of the transportation of gas in the city of Calgary.

Gas Rate Cut To 43 Cents Net
"2. Until the 31st day of October, 1926, the household rate for gas in the city of Calgary shall be 43 cents net.

"The rate is to depend upon the availability of Turner Valley gas, and shall be effective from and after the November meter rate. No gas for other than household purposes shall be used until the supply for gas will be scrubbed in the plant now under construction, and made free from odor.

"3. All agreements made by the companies concerned in the present application are to be open to examination and review by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, and all rights are reserved by the city to object at any time to all or any of their terms.

"In this connection, the government feels certain that the Imperial Oil, Ltd., will consent to any reasonable variation for the further purpose of the protection of domestic consumers against shortage.

City Should Submit To Utility Board

"The government wishes to add that the city of Calgary should recognize that the gas rate question able smoothness and conviction. It requires a long hours of thought, study and work to present each character in its genuine mood.

Forrest Halsey adapted "The Coast of Folly" from the popular novel by Coningsby Dawson. Prominent in the strong supporting cast are Anthony Jowitt, new screen "find" who has the leading man's role opposite Miss Swanson; Alec Francis, Lawrence Gray, Arthur Hausman, Dorothy Cumming, Jed Prouty and Eugene Bessner.

STRONG CAST IN GRIFFITH DRAMA

Hollywood and New York's Broadway unite their dramatic strength in "Love's Wilderness," in which First National will present Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

Supporting Corinne in this picture are two prominent Broadway stage players, who were brought to Hollywood to create the leading male roles. They are Holmes Herbert and Ian Keith.

Another stage celebrity in the cast is Maurice Cannon. Cannon was brought over by First National from France, where he was leading juvenile with the Comedie Francaise in Paris.

Players of older memory will recall two other faces in "Love's Wilderness," reminiscent of stage fame of two decades past. They are David Torrence, brother of Ernest, who was leading baritone in "The Geisha" and other comic operas that were all the rage a generation ago, and Emily Fitzroy, as well known in films now as a character actress as she was on the English and American stage twenty years ago.

This picture presents the lovely Corinne in a new dramatic element—totally different in spirit from that of "Black Oxen" and "Lilies of the Field," in which she scored tremendously. It is the story of a young Southern girl who runs away with an adventurer and takes her through scenes in Canada and the South Seas. Robert Z. Leonard directed.

GLORIA SWANSON HAS FIRST DUAL ROLE ON SCREEN IN "THE COAST OF FOLLY"

Gloria Swanson has her first dual role in pictures in the Allan Dawn Paramount production, "The Coast of Folly," which comes to the Empress Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

The main role is that of Joyce Gathaway, young and beautiful society girl, the leader of the smart set in New York and Palm Beach.

The other characterization is of Joyce's mother, first as Nadine Gathaway, the lovely wife who deserts a boresome middle-aged millionaire in search of romance, and in the new picture, she is the Countess de Tauru, wedded happily to a French nobleman, twenty years after deserting her millionaire husband.

Allan Dawn, Paramount's noted producer-director, said that Miss Swanson has accomplished the most finished performance of her career in the new picture; that she assumed the different roles with remark-

FRIENDS HONOR E. W. RHODES AT PRESENTATION

The following from the Winnipeg Tribune of a recent date will doubtless be of general interest to Macleod readers, referring as it does to the son of C. C. Rhodes, formerly of Macleod.

"A complimentary dinner and presentation was given E. W. Rhodes by customers and friends of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Main and Alexander branch, Monday night, in the tapestry room of the Royal Alexandra hotel, there being an attendance of 75 citizens. A. W. Myers presided, and in introducing several speakers, stated that Mr. Rhodes had always accorded patrons of the bank such splendid and friendly co-operation that all felt they could not see him depart to his new home in Vancouver without showing in a tangible way their appreciation of his services to all who had business with the bank in that section of Winnipeg. Among those who also sustained the words of Mr. Myers were C. C. Ferguson, general manager of the Great West Life company and former president of the Canadian club, of which Mr. Rhodes was secretary for three years; H. F. Higgins, S. E. Neal, B. C. Parker, Dennis Cockrell, president of the Young Men's section of the Board of Trade; M. Haid, J. D. Sim, R. E. Hemphill, Fred Sharpe, Peter Lowe, and the members of the committee on arrangements, B. G. Carnegie, George Hobday and C. R. Smith. Yick Wong, who represented the Chinese customers of the branch, spoke splendidly of the service Mr. Rhodes had given his race. Among those present were A. K. Harvie, chief inspector; J. B. Smith, assistant chief inspector; V. Kerr, manager of the North Winnipeg branch, and Mr. Hurlburt, manager of the Main-McDermott branch.

"D. S. McKellar, on behalf of the customers, presented Mr. Rhodes a beautiful four-piece silver tea set and tray, accompanying it with wishes also to Mrs. Rhodes and family.

"The room was beautifully decorated and the dinner was served in most elaborate style and furnished with all the richness of the season's bounties. The evening was enlivened by chorus singing by the guests and by readings and musical numbers by Syd Barnes, with Joseph Lyons playing very acceptably the piano accompaniments.

"Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes leave Wednesday evening by Canadian National railway for their new home in Vancouver. Besides Monday night's handsome remembrance, Mr. Rhodes was given a costly watch by the customers, and the superintendent's department, sterling silver candlesticks by ought, in future, to be governed by the question of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners. It is understood that the city commissioners recommend to the city council that the solicitor be instructed to make arrangements for an appearance before the board not later than June 1, 1926, and that such appearance will constitute a submission to the board's jurisdiction.

"In the government's opinion, this will be a very proper disposition of all matters between the city and the company, and will prevent a recurrence of dispute which cannot fail to have deleterious effect upon the public welfare."

WASHINGTON WINS FIRST GAME, 4-1

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 7.—Walter Johnson pitched the world's champion Washington Senators to a brilliant victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today, 4 to 1, in the first game of the 1925 championship series. A vast and colorful crowd of 40,000 filling the field to capacity saw the downfall of their favorites, the National League champions, who were baffled and held to five hits by Johnson, while the Senators hammered Lee Meadows, bespectacled Pirate pitcher, and his successor Johnny Morrison, for eight safe blows.

Two Home Runs

Two home runs were contributed in the opening game today. J. Harris ripped the hide to right in the second frame and the ball popped into the stand. He had pulled up at second for the ball was returned to play, but the umpire ruled that it had left the grounds and he was permitted to finish the circuit.

In the fifth inning Traynor, Pirates' sterling infielder, crashed the leather into centre field bleachers for a homer. Many brilliant fielding features were offered during the engagement, with Grantham's unassisted double play as one of the most outstanding.

Johnson, who had faded so sadly in most of the 1924 series for Washington, flashed into the limelight of sporting prominence again. He was unbeatable with his wonderful control and fanned ten men in the encounter. Only five scattered hits were made off him in the day.

the staff of the branch, and several gifts from individual friends. The menu dishes were named after some of the gentlemen who had played a large part in preparing the night's entertainment, and furnished much amusement to readers. The new manager of the branch, J. D. Sim, also was called on, and was warmly welcomed to his new position by the gathering."

WHAT THEN OF RUSSIA

Eight years ago a revolution in Russia, which was made possible by the war, though it had grumbled and groaned underground for many years, changed the whole diplomatic map of Europe. Russia had been the ally of France, of England, of Italy, of the smaller countries which fought against the German coalition of powers, and potentially of the United States of America. In a trice, Russia became in fact, though not in law, the enemy of the Allies by whose side it had fought for several years. The social changes which were brought about by this great upheaval were found more alarming even than the devastation of modern warfare. Russia was cast out from the comity of nations. All civilized countries treated it as having gone into the outer darkness.

There is much that one must deplore in the events which followed

The Right Way to Boil Potatoes

Put the potatoes in an SMP Enamelled Potato Pot. Cover with water. Add salt to taste. Boil until soft. When finished, drain off all the boiling water through the strainer spout. No danger of steam scalding the hands because the handle securely locks the cover on. If your family uses potatoes, you require one of these.

the Revolution. No condemnation could be too strong for the behavior of the revolutionaries. The doctrines which they enunciated make no appeal to France or Germany or Italy or England or to America. Nevertheless, the time has come to ask whether Russia is to be kept forever outside the pale. A gradual evolution of ideas has been observed, and setting aside the particular forms of government which Russia appears definitely to have adopted, there is in the world at large a growing feeling that no good can be accomplished by maintaining the barriers which would shut off Russia from normal intercourse with other peoples.

Assuming that Russia needs redemption, it is not by ostracism that Russia can be redeemed. It is desirable, in the opinion of many observers, that the windows should be thrown open and some fresh air let in. Whether we like it or not, Russia cannot but play a great part in the world's activities. It does verily exist—a great sprawling country, stretching to the north and east of Europe and influencing the policies of the Western powers and of the Eastern powers. Actually, Russia has succeeded in breaking down most of the barriers which have been recognized by the European nations.

With the internal affairs of Russia it is urged in Europe, the word has no direct concern. Europeans generally only demand that Bolshevism and Bolshevik methods of government should not be made an article of exportation. For a number of years they stood out against Russia, persuaded that the new regime was merely provisional. When the Soviet was set up, it was predicted that it could not last. For years Europe persisted in this belief, and based its refusal to recognize Russia chiefly on the ground that its government was essentially unstable. While such a contention was plausible, it could be accepted as a genuine reason for preserving a noncommittal attitude. But now, when the Russian Government has proved to be as stable as any other Government in Europe; when all hope of a restoration has been finally abandoned; when it is seen that, with all its faults, the Russian Government has come to stay, and such opposition to it as exists is rather to the Left than to the Right, England and Germany and Italy and the rest have, perhaps with very faces, juridically recognized Russia.

Last year France, which had been most energetic in the erection of a "barbed wire fence" around Russia, came to the conclusion that what ever might be thought of the Soviet regime, it was, at any rate, permanent and to be treated accordingly. It was one of the factors in the life of the world. Recently a further step has been taken: the French and the Russian Governments are endeavoring to negotiate a debt settlement, and although it is impossible for the French to collect substantial sums, even a nominal and financially fruitless settlement would be a tremendous event, betokening an entirely changed outlook. It has even suggested, with what truth the future alone will show, that sooner or later in the diplomatic groupings of the old continent, we shall find Russia side by side with France, its former ally.

It is possible to contend, as in fact certain international politicians contend, that it will prove to be an exceedingly bad business to force Russia to turn its face exclusively to the East. It should, in their opinion, be encouraged to remain in contact with the Western powers. If the League of nations will remain incomplete and accordingly comparatively helpless without the co-operation of Germany, it will also remain incomplete, even as a European organization, without the participation of Russia. If Russia continues to be an outlaw, capable of upsetting by an antagonistic diplomacy any European arrangements that might be made, then it will be mere mockery to talk of European order and of European peace. Russia may at any moment provoke a strife, and nobody can foresee the consequent alignment of Germany, of England, of France, of Italy, of the Little Entente, of Turkey, and of the Balkan states, to say nothing of the complications which may ensue in the Far East, to which Russia extends its influence.

These discussions between France and Russia, though ostensibly concerned only with financial matters, may, therefore, be of vital importance. It is possible that all that has been done or is being done in the diplomatic sphere in Europe, the renewal of the Franco-British Entente, the attempt to bring about a Franco-German rapprochement by means of a pact, the establishment of special relations between France on the one hand and Poland and Czechoslovakia on the other hand, and the multiple ramifications of post-war policy, can be shattered, sooner or later, by a decisive intervention of Russia, or by the resolve of one or other of the European countries to bring Russia into its diplomatic game.

If the elaborate publicity scheme matures upon which the Dominion Government in New Zealand is planning to embark in the advertising of its country's attractions for tourists, it will have found a practical application for the American slang phrase "All tell the world." For, according to dispatches, the idea is to advertise New Zealand so extensively, in the effort to correct the grotesque beliefs which are currently held in many parts of the globe concerning conditions there, that its citizens will no longer be thought of in a false light. New Zealanders are anxious to let it be generally known, in a word, that they are not so very different from people elsewhere; that they have automobiles, railways and street cars; that they wear cloths much like those worn in Europe; that they speak the English language, and that, in short, they are not uncivilized cannibals, but quite ordinary folks desirous of welcoming visitors from other lands.

Those who would claim that medicines are sold and dispensed as freely today as in the years gone by might find difficulty in explaining the

OCTOBER ROD AND GUN

What promises to be one of the best and most interesting of wild life study series commences in the October issue of Rod and Gun, just published. The series is written by the well-known naturalist, Raymond Thompson, and the first article is a lengthy and very interesting account of the beaver. Judging by the material contained in this article, the rest of the series should prove valuable and interesting reading matter for the lover of wild life.

Appropriate to the season a number of hunting stories are included in this fall number. The regular articles and departments covering birds, dogs, outdoor life, shooting and fishing seem even better than usual. This is especially true of Fishing Notes, which contains in addition to the articles of Robert Page contents of a full-page advertisement of a nationally known drug store recently appearing in the New York Evening World. In this collection of goods for disposal, featured as "drug store" goods, specially priced for September, were included twenty-seven items or groups of items. And of these were the major medicines of one sort or another?

Lincoln stories by G. P. Sladen, of Toronto, goes to make a splendid section for the angler. The open season for game birds in Ontario are included in the issue.

One-half? One-third? One-quarter? No, out of the total of twenty-seven, there were only three such. The others included candy, perfumes, brushes, foods, writing paper, razors, etc. And surely a drug store should furnish a reliable index to what's what in this directory of medicines of one sort or another?

BUY AT HOME SPEND YOUR MONEY IN MACLEOD

Purchases representing thousands of dollars are lost to us, to our trade, to our clerks and employees, to our laborers and artisans, to all the people of Macleod who exist on the products of their work. This money, if spent at home, would help to recreate Macleod financially, give a wider field of activities in business, would be helpful to every resident of this town.

If we purchased regularly from local merchants, this money would circulate in Macleod in a welcome manner. Our merchants merit our patronage; it is to our interest, and the duty of all of us to encourage the local merchant. He is one of us, he lives among us, he has the right to be encouraged by us, he is anxious to have our custom, and to give us satisfaction. We should under all circumstances give him preference, price for price, quality for quality. And nearly always the price that our local merchant asks is, if we compare the quality, just as cheap as that of the outside merchant.

Never purchase merchandise by catalogues from foreign houses before assuring yourself that you cannot procure the same articles, of the same quality (and frequently of better quality) at the same price from your local merchant.

Many Homesteads Filed On
A total of 71 homesteads were

Good Building Record
One million dollars in building the record at Calgary which is a considerable increase over last year's record.

Publicity Pictures
Motion pictures for distribution among the news reels in circulation were taken the past week to the extent of nearly 1,000 feet in the Edmonton district by representatives of film concerns. These included scenes on the farm of Lord Rodney at Fort Saskatchewan, and the Gillies farm at Clover Bar. Pictures were obtained of the titled students in farming from the old land who are working on the farm of Lord Rodney.

Alberta's Gas Production
For the first time in the province's history, Alberta has taken first rank among the provinces of Canada, in the production of natural gas. The dominion bureau of statistics report for the production for the first six months of this year states that Alberta's production during that period was 4,687,084 million cubic feet, with Ontario second with a production of 3,257,429 million cubic feet.

culture. This service has been in operation for some years, and has formed a substantial nucleus for the new pool.

Exhibits for International
Two thousand farmers in the province are being notified by the Department of Agriculture of the forthcoming International Hay and Grain Show at Chicago, from November 28 to December 5, at which Alberta farmers have always been prominent exhibitors. Farmers who intend to exhibit this year are asked to have their entries into the Provincial Department of Agriculture by November 3rd, as all entries must be in Chicago by November 9.
Exhibits are to be shipped to the seed cleaning plant of the Department at Edmonton, from where the Department will pay freight or express to Chicago. The exhibits are to be in place in Chicago by November 23. The Department will also bear the expense of putting up the exhibits. The Department is offering again an honorarium of $150 for each grand championship won by an Alberta farmer, and $100 for each first prize.

Eve, first day: "What a beautiful garden you have got!" Second day Isn't my garden wonderful?"

In the matter of printing francs, Caillaux seems to take that "safety in numbers" idea too literally.

The race isn't hopeless; no man ever is as hard-boiled as he feels at sixteen.

SWEET CLOVER AS A PASTURE CROP.

In recording the results of experiments at the Brandon, Man., Experimental Farm, Mr. R. A. Derick has something to say about sweet clover as a pasture crop. With few exceptions, he says, it has given excellent results. Cattle have been pastured with no ill effects. The milk supply was completely maintained and no complaints have been received relative to its odor or flavor. There is no doubt, however, that this clover makes an extremely soft feed when fed alone and as a consequence it is advisable to give the animals access to dry roughage.
Unless the crop is kept well pastured down the growth may become rank and coarse and less palatable.
Also some of the plants may ripen seed and produce volunteer plants
after the pasture is ploughed up.
As a hog pasture sweet clover has gained certain distinction. Close pasturing late in the fall is not desirable, it being preferable to have some growth for winter protection.
Sweet clover, Mr. Derick in concluding his remarks on this section points out, is able to withstand the effects of pasturing somewhat better than alfalfa and for this reason as well as because of its rapid recovery, it is possible to use the first year's crop.

A man needs a greater vocabulary.
"Perfectly darling" doesn't seem to describe everything he approves.

Science can explain everything except why "Heavens" is an exclaima-tion and "Hell" a curse word.

Poor old Germany! She hasn't even a colony to serve as a sparring partner.

THE INITIATE POET

Still fragrant of the spring for ever,
While times and generations fade,
The wreath of laureate endeavour Blossoms in the song the initiate poet
has made;
Ancestral virtue still unsleeping
He tends for kingdoms yet to be,
And incorruptibly is keeping
The gates of immortality:
And through the poet still is given
The rarest recompense of heaven,
—Friedrick Schiffer, Translated by John Drinkwater.

The Pen that Convinced the World

The history of the fountain pen is very like that of the telephone, the telegraph, the radio and a host of other present-day conveniences.
Fifty years ago no one thought a satisfactory fountain pen would ever be an accomplished fact. Scores of pens had been invented, but not one of them would write properly. They only worked at times; the ink flow could not be controlled.
But in 1853 came Waterman's Ideal—the perfect pen—one that would always work properly, one that would not leak, one that would meet the peculiar requirements of every man's hand.
From a beginning of 200 pens in a year—made by hand—Waterman's has developed into a great industry. To-day there are millions of Waterman's Ideals in service in all parts of the world.

OBITUARY

MRS. A. B. MACDONALD MACLEOD PIONEER WOMAN, PASSES

Mrs. Elizabeth Macdonald, wife of A. B. Macdonald, former sheriff of Macleod, died in Calgary at 3 Dufferin Lodge Friday, afternoon, October 2nd, at the age of 74 years. Mrs. Macdonald was born at Alexandria, Glenora county, Ontario, in 1851, and she was married in 1869. She came to Alberta with her family in 1892, her husband having come west some years previous.

During her residence in Alberta, Mrs. Macdonald lived for 18 years on the Glenora ranch on Trout creek, west of Claresholm, and also for a considerable length of time in Banff and Macleod. She went to reside in Calgary about twelve months ago.

In the early days Mr. Macdonald was engaged on construction work on the C. P. R. on the north side of Lake Superior. He was in charge of the supply stores at Revelstoke, which was brought up from the States in 1884-85. Later, he took the office of sheriff at Macleod and on resigning that office he went to Calgary to live.

Mrs. Macdonald is survived by her husband, four daughters, Mrs. Chas. Sharples, of Claresholm; Mrs. Wm. Hyde, of The Leavings, near Macleod; Mrs. Thos. Graham, of Macleod; and Miss Margaret Macdonald, of Calgary; two sons, Allan Macdonald, of Claresholm, and J. H. Macdonald, of Calgary. One son, George, is deceased.

The body remained in the chapel of Shaver's mortuary home until 8:45 Monday morning, when the funeral cortege proceeded to the St. Mary's cathedral, where requiem high mass was sung at 9 o'clock. The remains were laid to rest in the St. Mary's cemetery.

Morris, T. B. Martin, J. Arthur and J. H. Davis.

J. S. Lambert who has been suffering from blood poison in his right hand is now recovering.

Orville Kirk left on Wednesday of last week to attend Saskatchewan University at Saskatoon, Sask.

Mrs. Captain M. MacKay, of Owen Sound, Ontario, arrived in town Sunday morning and is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Russell, south of town.

Mrs. D. J. Grier returned from Lethbridge on Saturday last with Baby Nina. The little one is recovering nicely from an operation for after effects of an attack of pneumonia.

H. Hopwood was a Lethbridge visitor on Wednesday on account of the illness of his wife who has for the past ten days been a sufferer from pneumonia. Mrs. Hopwood is now on the way to recovery.

Mrs. Tripp, Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. Dillingham have been picking strawberries from their gardens during the past week despite the so-called inclement weather. Apparently strawberry season at Macleod covers a wide stretch of the year's 365 days.

The reception given by Mrs. R. Elder and Mrs. R. A. Clement at the home of Mrs. Elder on Friday, October 2nd, was a delightful social function. Mrs. J. W. McDonald assisted in receiving the guests—Dorothy Huntley admitting them at the door. Mrs. C. A. Mercer and Mrs. T. B. Martin poured tea, while Misses I. McDougall, L. Becher and B. Elder attended the serving. The dining room was tastefully decorated — colors predominating being mauve and orange, and in the drawing room, rose, while a profusion of lovely chrysanthemums lent their charm to the general ensemble.

MAKING AND CARING FOR CUTTINGS OF TREES AND SHRUBS

Cuttings should be taken from healthy plants and not from parts which give an unhealthy appearance. Cuttings from trees such as willows, Russian and northwestern poplars strike root from either old or young wood, while cuttings from most other trees strike root more readily and make better growth when taken from well-matured shoots of the current year.

Cuttings of willow, poplar and Tartarian honeysuckle as well as gooseberries and currants should be taken preferably in the fall; they may, however, be taken in the early spring before the buds burst. Cuttings should be from six to eight inches in length. A pit dug before freeze-up is a convenient place to store over winter. When boards are placed over the pit the snow is kept out, thereby permitting of early spring planting. Cuttings should be planted as early in the spring as possible. Planting at an angle of forty-five degrees and allowing one or two buds above ground has been found satisfactory, provided the soil has been well firmed around the cutting. During the planting process, the cuttings should not be allowed to dry out. A simple method of preventing drying-out is to carry cuttings in a pail of water when planting. A good practice is to set the cuttings in a small plot in the autumn and to transplant to a permanent location the following spring. When this method is followed, the cuttings are set in the small plot in rows eighteen inches apart with six inch spacing in the row. Helpful suggestions on this subject may be obtained by writing or visiting the nearest Experimental Farm.

One reason why dining car service is high is because people are not content to eat on oilcloth as they do at home.

Yell fire at a movie and half the flappers will rush out without waiting to slip their shoes back on.
